Introduction

We organized two Transnational Online Sessions in June, held on 17 and 26 June 2025. These online events were designed to enable all participants to share their experiences gained throughout the project.

The meetings were part of the TALES2SHARE COMMUNITY PROGRAMME (Activity A.4.2).

This activity focused on the creation of :

a) TALES2SHARE HUBS and the implementation of a training programme for older women, aimed at enhancing their intercultural competences, mental health, digital skills, creativity, storytelling abilities, and increasing their civic engagement.

b) Three local interactive sessions (e.g. workshops, human library events, or innovative forums) to promote civic, digital, and creative skills, aligned with the Competence Framework developed in Activity A2;

c) Three local digital storytelling sessions, including storyboarding and scripting, based on the guidelines from Activities A2 and A3, to create, produce, and record personal stories of older women (including migrants), promoting gender equality, democracy, integration, and human rights;

d) Two transnational online sessions to share experiences with all participants.

e) Production of two sets of stories based on a common theme

Preparation, recruitment of participants and announcements

We used various communication channels for participant recruitment. On one hand, electronic means were utilized (emails, social media of all partners and the project itself), and on the other, verbal communication, phone calls, and in-person meetings.

Attached is a screenshot of one of the formats used – a Facebook event.

3. A brief summary of the topics covered in both sessions.

During the individual sessions, in addition to a brief presentation on the origins of Tales2Share, the project's goals and tasks, the focus was placed on specific achieved results and developed outputs. The direct experiences of trainers were also shared, along with their perspectives and reflections.

Each session involved representatives from all project partners. We also succeeded in engaging a participant from Poland—featured in one of the recorded films—to speak during the event.

An important element of the session was the demonstration of the educational platform and its functionalities.

Additionally, during these sessions, the presentation of the Competence Framework inspired partners to approve a new Tales2Share product: a supplementary tool to the Competence Framework. It is designed to support trainers in achieving educational goals. Partners agreed to translate this document into their national languages and promote it in their respective countries.

The sessions encouraged a constructive exchange of information and experiences. The participation of older women—project participants—was especially meaningful.

These sessions strengthened the value of the European cooperation network by enabling partners to learn from one another and continue improving educational practices aimed at older adults. It was also important for the self-esteem of the older women participating in the sessions. They were able to see the effort partners invest in developing programs that strengthen their skills and to witness the commitment of the entire project team.

4. Number of session participants and a few screenshots.

In the first session on 17.06.2025, 44 participants took part, and in the second on 26.06.2025, 24 participants.

Summary of collected evaluation forms

During both sessions, 32 evaluation opinions were collected (the survey was not mandatory). Participant profiles included educators, trainers, volunteers and women, including emigrants participating in the project.

In our opinion, the meetings were evaluated very positively, and the demand for the developed tools was clearly confirmed.
